OFFICE OF EXTENSION WORK IN THE SOUTH.

STATES RELATIONS SERVICE.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Compiled by Claudia B. Stribling.

Vol. 1.

Vol. 8.

January 6, 1919.

When Production is wounded or Progress would go over the top; -

The Farmers' Cooperative Demonstration Work stands forth with all the strength of this wonderful organization and points to the County Agent who is now spurred on to glory by the fact that his labors are so effective that the Government has increased the appropriation for our work, and if prophecies are true, in another year a County Agent will stand as a rampart of strength in every county of the United States. Dr. Bradford Knapp states that the office of the County Agent is "To readjust Agriculture and rural life on a higher plane of profit, dignity and power, and to that end, to disseminate the information in the hands of the agricultural colleges, the federal department of agriculture, and the best farmers, and to convert such knowledge into practice.....In all this work the County Agent is assisted by a District Agent, who supervises the work of from fifteen to twenty County Agents, and the work in the state is under the general supervision of a State Agent." With the help of the County Agent the Farmers' Cooperative Demonstration Work impresses upon us the importance of diversification of farm industries and the proper rotation of crops.

Secretary Houston, that Progress may go over the top, urges organization among the farmers, wise organization - Farm Bureaus, that give us recognition in public affairs; - organization within our own Department, the greatest and most important. Such organization will give us confidence in one another, faith in our leader, the Master of Agriculture, now the very right arm of the President. Behold in our Secretary, a man learned, strong and brave, forced from the very importance of his position to stand apart upon an eminence, there to view the whole working force of the Department of Agriculture, and there from the vantage ground of his high post, with vision clear and brain alert, with unbiased, unerring judgment, to blaze the trail to victory of Production, the first aid of the whole world. -

"Our flaming torch aloft we bear,
With burning heart and oath we swear,
To keep the faith, to fight it through."
